

Skirting

Description

Skirting can be used in the sides of the wall to provide an attractive finish. Used at the junction of floor and wall to protect the wall and paint against crashing of feet and other effects. Skirting prevents accumulation of dirt in the corner. Two-piece skirting can act as a cable conduit as well. Our skirting range includes aluminum, PVC and MDF profiles and can be suitable for any kind of flooring including vinyl, parquet, raised access floor, ceramic tiles etc., Thicker coating is available upon request. Laminated profiles with different wood designs exist for parquet applications.

Our standard colour for PVC profiles is; white, creme, beige or gray.
