

Video Optimization

Description

Analyze your device capabilities to intelligently optimize from SD to 1080p+ video content. Both the video and the device characteristics – such as the resolution – are taken into account to determine the right federation of techniques to produce optimized content saving up to 70% of data while preserving the video quality.